NUMBER 8

Fine Mothers Day Program Presented

The 2nd Ward church was filled Sunday morning for the Mother's Day program, and the sight of 93 mothers, grandmothers and great-grand mothers seated on the stand in the Choir seats was a grand sight. Following were the program number as carried out:

Tributes to Mothers from members of the Kindergarten and Primary Class, and a Response for the Mothers by Mrs. Scott Salmon.

Vocal Duett—Mesdames Harry Fairbanks and Ruth Salmon.

Recitation—Elaine Stevenson.

Response and Tribute to 'Our Ward Mothers,' Mrs. J. H. Walker, Mrs. J. O. A. Stevenson.

Concertina Number—Rhino-hold Thur.

Talk on "Mother" by Wm. Nalder of the Missionary Class.

Response by the Mother of a Missionary—Mrs. J. W. Evans.

Talk—Brian Bennett.

Response "To My Son" by Mrs. Rulon Dahl.

Recitation "Mother's Day Program" by Geraldine Reber.

Story on "Mother's Day Lily" by Katherine Bennett.

Solo "The Songs My Mother Use to Sing"—Jos. McLean.

Talk on "Influence of My Mother," by John F. Salmon.

Musical Reading "Mother O Mine" by Melba King.

One minute of Silence in tribute to Mother.

A count of mothers present showed 9 great grandmothers, 24 grandmothers, and 60 mothers for a total of 93.

Similar programs were held in all of the Wards of the Stake Sunday morning, and in some of the wards Carnations were presented to all of the mothers in attendance.

SHOWERS RELIEVE DROUTH SITUATION

Thunder showers ranging from light to heavy, soaked up the surface Tuesday night to cool off the burning hot atmosphere and also to help vegetation and beet and grain fields which had become quite dry during the past ten days of rainless and hot weather.

Locally the showers were not exceptionally heavy, possibly half an inch of moisture falling the greater part of it between 6 and 8 p.m., accompanied by lightning and loud claps of thunder. At Card's farm south of town and for a short distance north and south of there, they had a miniature cloudburst, and bar pits and hollows were full when daylight came Wednesday morning. The entire district received some rain and it will help greatly in relieving the moisture condition, as all vegetation was showing the effects of no rain.

Their Majesties Land At Quebec

At 6:30 Wednesday morning Raymond people tuned in their radio and heard the ceremonies in connection with the landing of Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth on Canadian soil, history making because of the fact that they are the first ruling monarchs ever to visit Canada.

Delayed at sea by fog and the nearness of icebergs, which at times caused the ship to lay to entirely, they landed safely and set foot at historic old Quebec, and soon after landing ceremonies, listened to 35,000 school children sing "God Save the King" and "O Canada" on the historic "Plains of Abraham" where General Wolfe, after sealing the cliffs of the St. Lawrence, massed his men during the night to meet the French when daylight came, & won for England the part of Canada originally settled, and still inhabited largely by loyal French Canadians. Three small girls presented their Majesties with bouquets.

In order to keep up with the previously outlined schedule the official stay in Quebec will be cut short and the program followed as planned. While sailing up the river Premier King and Hon Ernest Lapointe boarded the Empress of Australia and officially welcomed the Royal visitors to Canada, and at Wolfe's Cove Premier Duplessis and Lt. Governor d'Avenant of Quebec extended the greetings of the people of Quebec, to all of which the King responded very fittingly and expressed his joy at being permitted to visit Canada.

Deafening cheers and applause, mingled with the singing of National Anthems greeted the Royal couple as they drove from the dock to the parliament building, and certainly a finer show of loyalty and patriotism would have been impossible than was made at historic old Quebec. Such scenes will be repeated at every stop made across this broad Dominion and hundreds of thousands of Canadian men and women will travel far to get a glimpse of King George and Queen Elizabeth, who by this visit will be nearer the hearts of Canadians than perhaps any of her ruling monarch of the Great British Empire.

Lightning Strikes McBride Home

GOD SAVE THE KING

On Monday next Their Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, will land at Quebec, the first time in history that a ruling sovereign of the British Empire has ever visited Canada. Accompanied by the battleship Repulse and two light cruisers, the Royal party left England the end of the week and started to Canada. After accompanying the flotilla for about half the way the Repulse turned back again to stand guard on the British Coast and maintain the old saying "Britannia Rules the Waves."

Canadians as loyal subjects of the Crown are sparing no pains in arranging a welcome that is worthy of our honored guests. To have their Majesties visit us is a signal honor. It is no wonder that our pulse should quicken a little as we lay plans to travel to some point where we may at least get a glimpse of them which is the most that most of Canada will be able to do. But even so, it is an opportunity worth capitalizing on to even get a glimpse of them, some thing that most Canadians had been unable to do since Canada was a part of the Empire. Children particularly are getting excited over the trip, and in most every town plans are being carefully laid to get the children to see the Royal visitors and most Alberta cities are providing that regardless of the older ones, the children shall have an opportunity to see the King and Queen.

As good Canadians we should individually and collectively, do all possible to make their visit pleasant and memorable. So pleasant that it shall not be their last, and so memorable that should it prove to be the last one, it will live forever in their memories. Canada has always been an active Dominion of the great Commonwealth of Nations making up the Empire. Our trade relations have always been friendly and beneficial to Canadians. In times of trouble, the Boer and the World War, Canada responded 100 per cent with the other nations in defending democracy, and the same would be true should trouble come again. Canadians have always won merit and honor on the battlefield and in the civil service, and because of all these things, we seem to be very close to our Rulers, and while this is their first visit here, it seems that old friends and relatives coming to see us, rather than some stranger, who for aught we know might be disinterested in what and who we are.

We are glad that King George and Queen Elizabeth have been deeply interested always in the welfare of all their subjects and have been very anxious to make this trip and see their Canadian subjects and American friends. We hope again that their trip is pleasant and enjoyable, and that it will be the beginning of a similar visit every five or ten years, or whatever period could be arranged.

Long Live The King.

The schools are holidaying this afternoon so the students can attend the Truck Meet as participants and also as spectators.

Hawkins Bros. have hauled quit a few load of brick pieces onto their Station grounds this week. The were busy Wednesday breaking up the larger pieces with hammers. Bill said getting in practice for what is ahead.

The Parley McBride family received quite a scare Tuesday evening during the electric storm, when a bolt of lightning struck a large tree near the house, followed the radio aerial to the house, went down the side of the house, scorching the lumber and leaving a variety of shades on the wall, into the house where it blew out the front of the radio, and burned the wire to a tinder between the radio and the light socket.

Parley was sitting by the radio when the bolt struck, and it shocked him enough to make him deaf for a couple of days, and his ears ringing for nearly a week. One of the younger boys was milking the cow at the time and when the lightning struck the tree and tore off a large piece of bark, scattering leaves around, bossy got excited, spilled the milk and trod on the feet of the milker.

Luckily no one was seriously injured, but all were surprised and shocked. This is the fourth time in the past few years that lightning has struck some home in that corner of town.

TWO HOLIDAYS

NEXT WEEK

Wednesday afternoon holiday was observed as usual in Raymond this week and stores will remain open Saturday. Next week, however, all place of business will be closed on May 24th a statutory holiday, and the 26 for the history making visit of their Majesties in Southern Alberta, stops being made at Medicine Hat and Calgary.

It is likely that a large portion of Raymond citizens will make an effort to get either to one point or the other to see our Royal visitors on that day as it may be the only opportunity most of us ever have to see our ruling monarchs.

Palmer Elected To School Board

Monday's election for a school Trustee to fill the vacancy in the Board was won by L. L. Palmer and he attended his first meeting Tuesday evening. T. T. Mendenhall the other nominee was defeated by a slight majority.

The vote was very light, every one being busy. Geo. E. Court was Returning Officer and also the Clerk for the day, handling all the details of the election himself.

Mr. And Mrs. Arthur Rose Visit Here From England

Yesterday we had a very nice talk with Arthur Rose, Builder and Contractor of Doncaster, England, who with Mrs. Rose is visiting relatives in Raymond, viz. the Zobeil and Mehew families, also relatives in Lethbridge.

Mr. Rose visited here 30 years ago, when a young man about sixteen, and spent two years here. He said he had been promising his wife this trip for 20 years, and finally decided to take it. He was pleased with the marks of progress and advancement the district shows and said he certainly liked the country, but was still satisfied to make his home in England.

Asked as to his business in England he stated that they were always kept busy, and that the present year had been very good, and that while he had been absent from home since April 15th, his firm were still very busy keeping up with their work.

After their visit here they are going to Saskatchewan to visit Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Tolles and then to Ontario to visit M. Robinson and family, also relatives. While at Ontario they hope to see the King and Queen as they return from the Pacific Coast. Speaking of the great

THE GOOSE AND THE GANDER

The old proverb, "What is good for the goose is good for the gander" was brought back to our mind vividly over the weekend. On Friday last the Retail Section of the Board of Trade at their meeting, had a lengthy discussion on the ways and means to cope with peddlers who ply their wares from house to house.

We are in accord with the local merchants in their attitude that this is unfair competition, in so far as the local merchant pays taxes for the privilege of doing business in the town, have erected modern buildings and employ local help, while the peddler goes from house to house unmolested, not paying one cent in the way of taxes, not building up the town by erecting a place of business or helping in the local employment situation. Furthermore, the peddler is here today & somewhere else tomorrow, while the local merchant is here year in and year out, standing right behind the quality of the goods he sells in most cases serving the town in some useful capacity, probably as a member of the Council, Board of Trade, or taking a keen interest and fostering the community spirit through one or more of the service clubs.

This peddling and house to house canvassing could be controlled, it was pointed out, by local legislation, under power conferred in the town charter. The merchants considered that they were entitled to some protection in view of the heavy taxes they pay.

So much for one side of the picture. What does the reverse side show? It is common knowledge that a large number of commercial travellers canvass the town every week, not only for groceries, dry goods, fruits, tobaccos, etc., commodities that have to be shipped in, but also for goods that are produced here such as flour, bread, flowers, printing, counter check books, etc. What is the attitude of the merchants towards these salesmen? Do they turn a deaf ear to their pleadings and support the local industries, or does the traveller leave with a nice order? Instead of the local producer getting a little profit on goods he could produce the traveller gets a commission. Surely the same power conferred in the town charter to protect the local retailer should also protect the local industry.—Lloydminster Times.

The buffalo disappeared from the Western plains before the cowboys bought guitars. Apparently there was no connection.

URGE EARLY START ON ROAD WORKS

An early start on road construction before the touring season is in full swing, is being urged by officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

Last year, it is recalled, there were complaints over the lateness of some of the reconstruction work on the Edmonton-Calgary highway, between Red Deer and Crossfield. Government officials replied that the delay was due to weather conditions and work has been expedited as rapidly as possible.

This season the public works department has given contracts for over 100 miles of main highway improvements, including re-gravelling and material for "blotter" surfacing as well as "seal coating," which is the top course of bituminous surfacing.

These contracts include work on the Jasper highway, of which 31 miles will be reconstructed, and also work on the Edmonton-Calgary highway, which is to be "blotted," while a "seal coat" is to be laid between Millet and Ponoka.

Various road projects in the southern part of the province also are being undertaken, while officials state that the work will be pushed ahead rapidly.

Forthcoming visit of Their Majesties the King and Queen makes it essential that Alberta's highways should be in the best possible condition to handle the big volume of motor traffic during this period, according to officials of the A.M.A.

Edmonton Letter

(By T. B. Windross)

Edmonton Alberta—The past week has been unusually full of front-page happenings, aside from the news from across the Atlantic and other foreign fields. In Alberta the political scene is undergoing mysterious shiftings that may result in a "transformation scene" at any moment.

One thing has been made quite clear, Social Credit as an economic possibility and a political platform is to be a thing of the past, even in Aberhartian Alberta. In London the word came during the week that the "Social Credit secretariat" and folded its wings and slid into liquidation. And that spells the end of the famed Douglas system, if indications mean anything.

But the interesting feature to Albertans is that the spurious Social Credit of William Aberhart—if Major C. H. Douglas' description of it is to be believed—is also slipping fast before the march of common sense and political expediency into the limberlost of things that have failed.

In a recent Sunday night address to 500 supporters in the Strand Theatre, Edmonton, Aberhart solemnly warned them to be on the watch "for our new democracy movement." To be prepared to support it when it is announced.

During the same week signified Ben W. D. Herridge, accompanied by that advocate of any old freak economic or political theory, C. A. Bowman, editor-in-chief of the Ottawa Citizen, made a call in Edmonton on Premier Aberhart.

Two days were spent in the Alberta capital by these two brights-ent of the new day, most of the time in conferences and consultations with Aberhart and members of the cabinet. At least several hours were actually spent with the cabinet at Parliament Buildings. Mr. Aberhart had a long talk with Mr. Herridge and Mr. Bowman at the Macdonald Hotel, which was later described as a simple "courtesy call."

It becomes clearer daily that the rift thickens in the Aberhart camp. Social Credit having proved lopsided & unworkable in a province some other scheme must be worked up. Something else to secure votes must replace the Basic Dividend bribe of the Aberhart theory of Social Credit in 1935—the cure of poverty in the midst of plenty! Observers in Alberta are opening their eyes wide at the simplicity and naive tactics of the program. They are wondering what will happen to the Social Credit crusaders of 1935

So many proposed laws this year read as if they had been written by that fellow who would have preferred to write the nation's songs.

when they appear in 1939 on the campaign platform to tell simple minded folk, who were described by Aberhart as wearing gummysocks for clothing and feeding on gopher meat for food, that their basic dividend dream of $25 monthly will not and cannot be realized?

It will take more gall and brazenness to get up and explain away 1935 promises and assurances on strength of a mission from the Almighty than is usually found in the party politician. Remembering the shouting about 'God's will & the People must prevail' that was heard before the election of 1935 and, in diminishing crescendo, through the last four years, one is reminded of the printer to whom a typographical error was pointed out in a proof copy of a religious work in which The Almighty was quoted. He said, "There were no spelling rules when Adam lived. God didn't spell like we do."

Now, the people of Alberta are to be told that all this dividend stuff, with just prices and interest-free loans is not to be realized in the way divinely inspired in 1935, but a change in the program has been decreed and the latest revelation is to be named THE NEW DEMOCRACY. We predict—even though its dangerous to do so—the New Democracy will be just another will-o'-the-wisp. It may provide another five years of power for Aberhart, providing the people of Alberta are sufficiently blind to opportunism, but it won't bring any relief to the overburdened voter who supports it at the polls any more than did Social Credit

BRIEFS

Mr. Justice Ewing, in supreme court chambers, Saturday, issued his decision that the appeal by E. L. Gray against Premier Aberhart and Hon. E. C. Manning, will be at Calgary with trial by jury. Mr. Gray's counsel will appeal the decision.

There are 2,000 hotel rooms in Edmonton, all of them taken for the Royal Visit on June 2, and there are over 80,000 persons expected to come to the capital for the day. Restaurants and eating places are providing for the rush and 1,250 private homes have registered willing to accommodate visitors. A committee of the royal visit organization are handling these billets. Four hundred Boy Scouts will act as ushers on the bleachers.

The probe into the affairs of the E. I. D. is scheduled to begin within a few days, possibly this week. The order-in-council appointing Judge Jackson and instructing him as to the scope of the inquiry was only signed last Monday, May 6th, after this weekly letter had gone in the mail.

Canadian Pacific Hotel Chefs Arrange to Cook Royal Meals

The combined life-time experience of four chefs who have worked in famous hotels and restaurants all over the world will go into the preparation of meals which will be served Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth during their visits to three of the Canadian Pacific Railway hotels, the Chateau Frontenac at Quebec City, Banff Springs Hotel in the Canadian Rockies, and Empress Hotel at Victoria, B.C.

On the day of their arrival from England, May 15, Their Majesties will be guests at a state luncheon at noon and a state dinner at night in the Chateau Frontenac at Quebec City. Chief Chef Louis Ballera, who has cooked for two former British Kings, and other world-famous figures will be in charge of both functions, assisted by Chef Raymond Charles Emil Ferry, European culinary expert and chef of the famous summer resort, Algonquin Hotel, St. Andrews-by-the-Sea. Maitre d'Hotel Harry Drewery, who has had world wide experience will supervise the banquet hall arrangements.

At Banff Their Majesties will enjoy their only real holiday of the trip and the cooking of Chief Chef Philippe Vignal, formerly of Paris, London, New York, Montreal, Italy and China, assisted by Chef Ferry. Their Majesties will be at Banff for dinner May 26, three meals May 27, and breakfast May 28.

The Empress Hotel at Victoria, B.C., farthest west of the Canadian Pacific trans-Canada chain, will be the scene of a state dinner in honor of Their Majesties, May 30, for which Chief Chef Caspar Anderreg will display all the cooking artistry he gained in his native Switzerland and England before joining the Canadian Pacific in 1912. Here, too Chief Ferry of Quebec will assist. From left to right are Chefs Ballera, Ferry, Anderreg, Vignal with Maitre d'Hotel Drewery in circle.

EXPERIMENTAL STATION LETHBRIDGE

WEEKLY LETTER

SOIL DRIFTING

The severe soil drifting that has occurred this spring in some localities and on a few fields in almost every part of the province shows again the extreme necessity of care in summer-fallowing.

It has been repeatedly emphasized from this Station that any practice that aggravates soil drifting cannot be considered as good farming, although it may be very effective in preventing weed growth and conserves moisture.

Conservation of moisture by fallowing and weed control have been considered paramount in summer-fallowing. For this reason, it has become a fixed habit in most parts of the Canadian prairies to think almost wholly of keeping the weed growth down so that moisture will not be lost. This is undoubtedly important but this year's experience should again teach us that soil drifting control must be considered even more important than moisture conservation.

In a Weekly Letter published last fall, attention was drawn to the number of large fields summer-fallowed in solid blocks that were unprotected by trash covers. At that time it was stated that it was very evident that serious drifting would occur if an open winter or dry spring with high winds was experienced. This is being mentioned merely to draw attention to the folly of repeating this same mistake in summer fallow practices this year.

Summer-fallowing in large blocks is too dangerous to be considered in areas where serious drifting is likely to occur. It is realized that strip farming increases the difficulty of controlling sawflies where this insect is prevalent, but methods for meeting this situation are being developed and should be considered where strip farming is badly needed.

The preservation of trash cover by leaving stubbles and dead weeds on the surface, is extremely important in summer-fallowing operations. In fact it is the only method that can be relied upon to hold some soils through a summer-fallow year. This is especially true of light soil or loose-top clay. Leaving such soils bare of a protective covering is simply asking for trouble. It is a little difficult to manipulate machinery to cultivate stubble fields for fallow without covering the trash, but it can be done. Where heavy combine stubble is being worked, the one-way may have to be used one or perhaps two times. If it is to be used only once, and the fallow then conducted by the rod weeder, it may be necessary to one-way about 4 inches deep so that the rod weeder will penetrate for the next operations. If there is too much trash for the rod weeder to be used for the second stroke then the one-way may be done more shallow, perhaps not over 3 inches deep.

Wherever it is possible to use a duck-foot cultivator or if a blade machine is available, they are better for preserving trash than is a disc type of implement as they do not destroy so much of the protective trash covering.

This letter is merely restating what has been said in previous letters from this Station but it seems necessary to continue to bring these well tested practices forward as there are still many who are following obsolete methods of summer-fallowing with the result that they are losing their soil and the whole country is suffering from "Black Blizzards" that have been so common this year.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

If the education and training of Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon now Queen Elizabeth, had been planned with the object of preparing the young lady for the task of some day assuming the duties and responsibilities of the wife of the King, nothing could have been contrived better or more exact than the actual programme which was followed by the devoted parents of Her Majesty.

Her mother Lady Strathmore was a remarkably intelligent woman and she did not favour boarding-schools. Consequently, Lady Bowes-Lyon had the good fortune to receive her early training and schooling from her mother, who taught her daughter all the necessary subjects, including at the same time a thorough training in all the elements of music, art, dancing, and all the kindred subjects. In other words, the cultural background of the ancient traditions were cultivated in the child, and this was accomplished at an early stage in the life of the future Queen. However, when the child had grown up, these educational duties were shared by governesses, and it is an extraordinary thing she had the benefits of the sound training of no less than three national backgrounds since she received instructions from a French, English & German governess at various stages. The results are that the Queen has a good command of the two foreign languages.

When she reached the proper age, she studied for the Junior Oxford examinations & she passed them. Then followed the period of the Great War and like all other girls of her age and position, she was ready to go abroad for the finishing school course but owing to the unsettled conditions this idea was abandoned. Nevertheless, she carried on her studies at home, and when in London, she followed certain courses in music and dancing, excelling in both. Madame D'Egville supplied the dancing lessons and Madame Matilde Verne was the music teacher.

But books and theories were not the only things that stand out at this point in the life of the Queen. It is rather the fact that the young lady was already showing natural talent to carry out the duties of a member of the Royalty. She had been properly described as the perfect hostess. During her childhood and youth, she received a number of opportunities to engage in social functions & to develop those necessary talents that are vital for the first lady of the land, just as if fate had destined her for the position. Her charming personality, wisdom, tact, her innate ability to remember faces and names, her dignity yet simplicity, all combine these very characteristics which are essential for the wife of a King. They cannot be achieved or attained suddenly, requiring many years of training. However, coming events have often cast their shadows before them and this was true in the case of Queen Elizabeth.

A big moving van was here Wednesday taking the furniture and belongings of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Easton to Rockyford, where Alex will be stationed.

Good progress is being made on the lumber shed of the Raymond Mercantile Co. It will have a stucco front and sheet iron sides. When this is completed, a similar one will be built just north of it, with just a drive way between them.
